

COMING EVENT - THE DRIVE-IN THEATRE

A Victorian Seniors Festival and History Week Presentation

The Cinema and Theatre Historical Society of Australia (CATHS) in conjunction with the Prahran Mechanics' Institute - Victorian History Library (PMI) is pleased to present ...

Drive-In Saturday with David Kilderry

Victorian PRAHRAN
History MECHANICS'
Library INSTITUTE

This talk will be presented by the pre-eminent drive in theatre historian, drive-in owner and CATHS member David Kilderry.

On 18 February 1954, an advertisement appeared in the Melbourne Sun; "Opening tonight at 6:30 Australia's first drive-in theatre". The Skyline at Burwood, became the first of more than 330 drive-in theatres to be built across Australia, changing the way several generations of Australians watched movies.

David Kilderry has a long history in the cinema business, is familiar with the operation of most of Melbourne's cinemas and is the owner of the Internet web site Drive-ins Down Under.
